IDA BISTRO

The saying goes, “Behind every successful man stands a strong woman.” For Miklós Ybl, the outstanding master and, if you will, star architect of the 19th century, that strong woman was his wife, Franciska-Ida Lafite, a governess born in Graz. A peace-era Austro-Hungarian bistro named IDA has opened with her name on the street front of one of the most famous Ybl legacies, the Várkert Bazár.

The restaurant also serves as a bridge between the Austrian capital and Budapest.
